Business Strategy Backfires

Labor May Have Bigger Say In Shaping Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Labor may have a stronger hand than business, it appeared today, in shaping legislation in the next Congress to curb union corruption.

If so, it will mean that business strategy backfired in helping kill off the Kennedy-Ives bill with its requirements that business and unions report to the government

Grading of Police Chief Test Is Begun

The Civil Service Commission is expected this weekend to complete the grading of the examination given Thursday night to name a new chief of police.

The test was given by the commission to Capt. Howard Forney and Lt. Martin Lutsch Jr., in the Council chambers in City Hall. They were the only eligible applicants for the vacancy which was caused by the death Sept. 26 of Police Chief George T. Earley.

The civil service test consisted of 120 questions and lasted nearly four hours, it was reported.

Preliminary grading was begun last night and is expected to be finished by Saturday night.

Members of the Commission are Ray Pearce, Paul Fogg and Wallace Stewart. Roy W. Harris is secretary.

The highest passing grade is expected to result in the appointment of either Capt. Forney or Lt. Lutsch to the position of chief. Should neither pass, another civil service examination, open to all members of the police department, would be held, it is understood.

After a new chief is named, another test will be held to fill whatever vacancy occurs as the result of the appointment from the ranks.

Sen. Johnson Says Democrats Will Cooperate

Will Seek to Avoid Partisan Warfare Next Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson D-Tex. pledged v.ictorious Democrats today to meet President Eisenhower at least halfway to avoid partisan warfare in the two years ahead.

The Senate majority leader said that a nation "cannot exist in the field of foreign affairs and defense when it speaks with two voices."

At the same time, Johnson sketched the broad outlines of a 12-point legislative program, some parts of which are certain to draw Eisenhower's fire.

Johnson also took obvious note of Eisenhower's campaign speeches calling some Democrats spend-thrifts, radicals, boondogglers and gloomdoggles, but said his party would not seek revenge.

"Every campaign, of course, produces its exaggerations and its heated remarks," said Johnson, who with House Speaker Sam Rayburn will lead the next Congress. "Some people will say things—when they see a few votes fading away—which they would never say upon reflection."

Johnson's speech was prepared for a Texas Business Education Day at Big Spring, Tex. Copies of his address, his first since Tuesday's elections greatly increased Democratic congressional strength, were given out at Johnson's Capitol office.

When the Democrats agree with the President, they will try to support him, Johnson said, and when they disagree, they will try to present constructive alternatives.

Some of the proposals Johnson outlined today appeared certain to win opposition from Eisenhower, who re-emphasized at a Wednesday news conference what he called the dangers of reckless spending.

Without specifying what he had in mind, Johnson called for a new farm program, saying, "There is something wrong when the government must spend 53 cents for every net dollar the farmer takes in."

Eisenhower told reporters Wednesday he contemplated no change in the administration's farm policy.

Johnson called for legislation to help areas of chronic unemployment. Eisenhower vetoed an area development bill passed at the last session which far exceeded his own recommended program.

And the senator called for stepped-up water development in the West, a lowering of interest rates he said are slowing down economic growth, a "bold housing program which will set as its goal a home for every American family" and an expanded airport building program.

In addition to housing, urban renewal, airport building, a new farm program, water development, depressed area help and lower interest rates, Johnson said Congress must face up to:

A review of foreign policy "so that bold, new, imaginative programs can be recommended to responsible officials."

A "consistent policy for Latin America which will help our neighbors to help themselves."

The need to breathe new life into the newly created space agency and launch a program to explore outer space.

The need for a program to de-

Story Different Almost Everywhere

Crazy-Quilt Election Pattern Produced by Varied Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP)—A candidate's flashing smile, a lingering memory of past scandals, a worker out of a job, a boss who hated unions...a candidate who worked around the clock, another who sat on his chair cushion, split party organizations, John Foster Dulles. Put them all together, add your own reason for voting as you did, throw in a couple of other factors at random and you have the kaleidoscopic explanation for Tuesday's election results.

Unquestionably there were some tides of opinion felt throughout most of the nation: the normal midterm wish for a change; some dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration's leadership or lack of it; strong union activity.

Produced Opposite Results

But in hardly any two states or congressional districts was the story the same. Sometimes identical factors produced opposite results.

This is shown by on-the-spot reports from Associated Press Bureaus in nine states which had contests of more than usual interest. The reports point to local

20 Marooned Men Are Saved

Group Was Stranded On Arctic Ice Island

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Drifting Station A's 20 marooned men were snatched to safety Thursday night in a dramatic Arctic rescue carried out by the light of flares.

All 20 of the rescued scientists and airmen were reported to be in excellent condition despite five days of isolation.

They were stranded Sunday on the Arctic Ocean 300 miles from the North Pole when an unseasonal polar storm ripped their mile-square ice floe apart.

The scientific station they were maintaining was an International Geophysical Year project.

A C123 from Thule, Greenland, guided only by flares set out by the men themselves, landed and hustled them aboard. There is no daylight during the arctic winter.

The 11 Air Force men and nine civilians will be flown to Thule and then to Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska, the base of operations for most of the civilians and the home base for the Air Force personnel.

The 10-foot-thick ice floe, first manned as an IGY scientific station in the spring of 1957, was

Pilot of Gun-Laden Plane Faces Charge

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP)—The pilot of a Cuba-bound airplane loaded with guns faces arraignment here Monday. The guns, en route to Cuban rebels, reportedly were stolen from a Canton, Ohio, armory.

Stuart Sutor, 35, of Hialeah Fla., was arrested Tuesday after landing his twin-engine plane at Morgantown, W. Va. Found aboard, authorities said, were rifles and machine guns said to have been stolen from the National Guard Armory at Canton last month.

Federal officials said the weapons were loaded on the plane at Allegheny Valley Airport near Tarentum, Pa. The FBI is trying to find out who took the arms, how they were transported to Pennsylvania and where they were stored.

Agents are also reported studying a possible connection with alleged racket elements in New Kensington, Pa.

Sutor is charged with interstate transportation of stolen property and violation of the National Firearms Act.

Rocket Noise Causes Delay In Moon Try

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A strange knocking noise inside the missile early today caused postponement of the latest Air Force attempt to shoot a satellite around the moon.

The huge Pioneer moon rocket glowed in the rays of floodlights for more than two hours in a driving rainstorm before the launch was called off at 12:34 a.m.

The Air Force has two more chances to shoot for the moon this month — in the early morning hours of Saturday and Sunday and then only within a critical time period of 18 to 20 minutes.

The time on a moon launching is critical because the earth and moon are in the opportune position for just brief periods each day.

If the missilemen fail to fire within the specified time, they will have to wait until early in December.

The launching was less than an hour away from zero when the noise was heard. The trouble apparently could not be pinpointed soon enough to get the rocket off during the critical time limit.

The Air Force announced the postponement was due to technical difficulties.

Two other moon rocket attempts have failed.

One Hurt In Three County Road Mishaps

One person was injured in three accidents investigated by the State Highway Patrol on area roads yesterday.

Lawrence Lytle, 48, of East Liverpool was injured in a head-on crash on Smith's Ferry Rd., one half mile east of Calcutta, at 7:35 a. m. yesterday.

According to patrolmen, Lytle swung to the left side of the road to pass another vehicle and crashed into a coal truck driven by John Gamble, 23, of East Liverpool.

Lytle was taken to East Liverpool City Hospital where he was treated for severe lacerations of the forehead and abrasions of the face. He was cited for improper passing.

A car driven by Malcolm Houk, 22, New Castle, Pa., struck the rear of a car driven by Percy Clerk, 42, of Beaver Falls, Pa., on Rt. 165 near East Palestine at 6:50 a. m. yesterday, state patrolmen said.

No one was injured in the accident and little damage resulted.

Houk was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, patrolmen said.

A car driven by Peter Drewnoski went out of control on a curve on Route 7, five miles south of Rogers, at 9:10 p.m. yesterday, left the road and went part way down an embankment, patrolmen reported.

Patrolmen said Drewnoski, who was cited for being left of center, was not injured.

President Urges Soviets to Join In Test Ban

U.S. Will Resume Blasts Unless Russia Agrees, He Warns

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today that Russia has fired two nuclear weapons tests since this country halted testing. President Eisenhower said, however, that the American suspension will continue for the time being.

In a statement, Eisenhower appealed to the Soviet government to join in a temporary ban on experimental nuclear explosions.

At the same time he warned: "If there is not shortly a corresponding renunciation by the Soviet Union (of testing), the United States will be obliged to reconsider its position."

AEC Announces Blasts

Announcement of the new nuclear explosions in the Soviet Union was made by the Atomic Energy Commission.

There was an implication in the AEC statement that the Soviets might have thought the two tests would not be detected, although his was merely a speculation.

The AEC statement said: "The Atomic Energy Commission today announced detection of two nuclear weapons tests which occurred in the U. S. S. R. on Nov. 1 and Nov. 3, respectively."

"Both explosions were of relatively low yield. They were conducted at a test site in the southern part of the U. S. S. R. rather than at the Novaya Zemlya test site north of the Arctic Circle where most of the tests in recent weeks have been held."

Eisenhower in his statement said that "this continued testing by the Soviet Union has occurred despite the fact that negotiations for the suspension of testing of nuclear weapons have since Oct.

Killer Terms Caril 'Willing' to Accomplish

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Killer Charles Starkweather says he doesn't care whether his ex-sweetheart Caril Ann Fugate lives or dies.

But testimony of the 19-year-old, himself condemned to death, stood today as the most damaging to date against Caril, 15, charged with first-degree murder on the identical counts on which Starkweather was convicted.

Starkweather completed a dramatic two-day appearance at Caril's trial Thursday. Prosecutors expected to rest their case today after introduction of a statement taken from Caril after her capture. Its contents have not previously been divulged.

Starkweather pictured Caril as his willing accomplice on a killing to date against Caril, 15, charged spree last January.

He disowned as "a bunch of hogwash" his earlier statements which portrayed her as an unwilling helper.

He lied to protect the girl, he said.

In fact, he related, some stories he told were fabricated jointly by Caril and himself while they lived together for several days at Caril's home after Starkweather killed three members of Caril's family.

Caril is charged with aiding and abetting Starkweather in the shooting of Robert Jensen, Benet, Neb., schoolboy. Jensen is one of Starkweather's 11 admitted victims.

Soviet Exports Show Gains

Communist Nations Get Bulk of Output

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Foreign trade figures released in Moscow show that the Soviet Union is on the way to becoming one of the most important exporters of basic commodities and raw materials.

Some of these are new. Others are traditional Russian exports now being sent abroad in larger quantities. Most compete with exports of the United States.

Among them are oil, oil products, coal, including anthracite, iron and chrome ores, pig iron, steel, ferrous metal products, lumber, cotton, flax and grain. Earlier this year the Soviet Union disturbed both aluminum and tin markets by heavy exports — amounting to dumping by some standards.

In 1957 the U.S.S.R. sold 13,700,000 tons of oil and oil products abroad — 36 per cent over 1956. This amounted to not quite 15 per cent of Soviet production. (Weights given here are in metric tons of 2,205 pounds).

The Soviets also exported 8,800,000 tons of coal in 1957, an increase of 56 per cent; nearly 1,300,000 tons of pig iron in 1957; nearly two million tons of steel (and rolled steel) 310,000 tons of cotton and 7,400,000 tons of grain.

The United States is a leading exporter of oil, coal, ferrous metals, cotton and grain. Thus the Soviet Union is competing with America in these materials. The reason the competition has not been felt more acutely as yet is that the largest part of the Soviet exports have been going to Communist-dominated countries.

In all cases except that of tin, where heavy exports reflect resale of Chinese Communist exports to Russia, the increased Soviet exports reflect heavily increased output. Thus it can be expected that the exports will continue to increase together with production in coming years.

This may lead in some cases to difficult situations for American producers and also perhaps to price wars. And foreign trade often has political significance in the cold war.

Ohio Authorities Sift Murder Clues

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol along with officers from Cincinnati and Clinton County continued today to try to piece together clues which might lead them to the slayer of Mrs. Martha Louise Berge, 32, of Cincinnati.

The burned body of Mrs. Berge, a Cincinnati transit firm employee, was found near Lake Cowan Saturday.

Thursday, officers found her glasses and one shoe along a road in the park area at the lake. They expressed belief that might have been the spot where she apparently was struck on the head.

Dr. Frank Cleveland, Cincinnati pathologist, said an autopsy showed Mrs. Berge was not dead when her body was set afire. He declared, however, skull fractures would have caused her death even if she had not been burned.

Mrs. Berge disappeared after leaving her place of employment a week ago Thursday night.

Also hurt was Mrs. Chester Newman, 28, of Zanesville, identified as the driver of the car which collided with the 20-passenger bus.

Convict Returned To Prison After 'Privileged Living'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Columbus Dispatch has made it possible for Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli to resume an old and familiar way of life.

Licavoli may not be very happy about it, though.

He's back in Ohio Penitentiary after a couple of years of what the Dispatch calls privileged living at the Hocking Honor Camp.

Maury Koblenz, director of the Ohio Division of Correction, ordered the 54-year-old Toledo underworld figure back to Columbus within hours after the Dispatch printed a story about him Thursday.

Among other things the story said, Licavoli, a convicted murderer, has been allowed unlimited visitors on other than regular visiting days, uncensored mail, unlimited access to a telephone, permission to wear non-regulation clothing, private, home-cooked meals and a small cabin for private talks with visitors.

In returning Licavoli to the penitentiary, however, Koblenz said he was only acting in the interests of the Hocking camp, and not because Licavoli was guilty of violating any camp rules. It was done, Koblenz said, "as a result of the recurring rumors which were not for the best interest of the camp."

He said it was the first rumor of favoritism he has received since the honor camp system was begun. The program has been in operation 8½ years and has handled more than 2,000 inmates in 15 camps.

For Licavoli, the transfer means a return to a long-familiar habitat. He entered the penitentiary in 1934 and remained there for 21 years before going to the honor camp three years ago this month.

Whether he stays there temporarily or permanently, Koblenz said, is up to Warden Ralph W. Aivis. In the meantime, authorities will continue their investigation into the favoritism allegations.

FBI Agents Recover Bank Robbery Loot

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—FBI agents and Licking County Sheriff's men have done some digging — overhead and underfoot — to come up with about 80 per cent of the $11,085 taken a week ago in a bank robbery.

At first it was thought more than $13,000 was taken from the Kirtlandville branch of the Park National Bank of Newark, but an audit showed $11,085 to be the amount taken.

Charles Abrams of Pataskala, his wife, Alberta, and Paul Earl Collins of North Kenova in Lawrence County are being held in connection with the robbery.

Agents and deputies were going over the Pataskala trailer court where the Abrams couple lived when an officer spotted a crack in the plasterboard of the washroom ceiling Thursday. When the board was torn away, searchers found a .38 caliber revolver and 150 $1 bills.

The gun is believed to be the one used in the robbery.

Officers were continuing their search when they received a call from an unnamed tipster that sent them to a fence line at the rear of a Licking County trucking firm about 12 miles east of Columbus.

About eight inches below ground they found $9,089 buried in an in-tub.

Archbishop Cushing heads the Boston Archdiocese and Archbishop Rummel that of New Orleans.

Jury Convicts Aurora Mayor of Misconduct

AURORA, Ill. (AP)—Paul Egan, the usually voluble mayor of Aurora, was silent Thursday after he was convicted by a jury of disorderly conduct and fined $157.20.

Egan, who has been feuding with Police Chief Donald Curran and the 68-man police force, did not testify during the four-hour trial presided over by Justice of the Peace Albert W. Zettinger. He had no defense witnesses.

Curran and two other witnesses testified against the 60-year-old mayor, who was arrested by Curran Oct. 14 at a meeting Egan had called in an attempt to mobilize citizens to replace the police force.

Egan's City Attorney Sidney Podolsky asked the verdict be dismissed on grounds the state law provides that the maximum possible fine on the charge is $100. Egan's fine was $141 plus costs of $16.20. Zettinger said he would take the motion under consideration.

Man Held for Raping Five-Year-Old Girl

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 35-year-old man who voluntarily entered a Veterans' administration hospital several weeks ago and then left has been charged with kidnapping for immoral purposes and rape in the luring of a little girl from a church bingo party.

The man is Robert Miller, a mental patient. He is a veteran of World War II.

Detectives Lytle Young and John Green said Miller admitted taking Vicky Pierce, 5, from a church auditorium here Wednesday night to a roadside park in adjoining Clermont County and attacking her.

The child still was with Miller when a county patrolman spotted his car. She was eating an ice cream cone.

Police said Miller lured her away from the bingo party with a promise of a malted milk. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pierce, were playing bingo and Vicky and other children were playing in a hallway. The search started when other children told of Vicky leaving with Miller.

Sgt. Wilbur Earle said Miller told him he entered the veterans' hospital Sept. 10 but left Sept. 27. Dr. Guene Stern, director of the medical staff at the hospital said, "He was not a committed patient and we had no legal authority to hold him."

Savers Vs. Spenders in Politics

President Eisenhower has turned back his political clock to 1952, when he campaigned successfully as a saver opposed to spenders.

His campaign speeches this year were more strongly worded than his speeches in 1952. They sounded like wails of remorse for having been taken into camp by spenders in his own administration.

He spoke of "harebrained spending schemes" and "raids on the taxpayers' dollar." When the votes had been counted and predictions of a Democratic landslide confirmed last Tuesday, the President said the electorate had voted for spenders and he promised to fight for economy with all his strength in the last two years of his administration.

The only way to stop diluting dollars, he said, is to stop spending.

WHAT CAUSES Mr. Eisenhower, who apparently had forgotten that he was elected six years ago as a budget-cutter, to be stressing his original theme in 1958?

Could it be that at long last the Republican party, which has been floundering with a me-too policy of outspending the spenders who dominate the Democratic party, is going to return to a sound-dollar position?

In the two-party system, when it is working properly, one party proposes and the other party opposes. Every hint of bipartisanship on a controversial policy is scotched on sight, because there is no place for bipartisanship in a genuine two-party system. Every proposal must win on its own political merit in an unrigged showdown.

The two-party system has been suspended on spending.

Both parties have been watering down the value of dollars with support for schemes and projects to make voters think Washington owns a money tree.

Both parties have been spending not only everything the government could collect but plunging the government into debt to maintain the happy illusion of an endless supply of cash.

Does a school district need another building for the children its adults are raising? Is it a bitter pill to swallow another tax levy? How about letting Washington supply the money, instead of raising it locally? That's the old refrain of the spenders.

Washington would love to supply the money. It doesn't have it on hand, but it can always print some more by issuing a few more billion dollars' worth of bonds and selling them for ready income, repayable in the indefinite future, plus interest and handling charges.

THAT HAS BEEN the style. What used to be called "cheap money" when William Jennings Bryan was watering down the dollar, today is called inflation, which means deflating what a dollar will buy in order to fool millions of people into believing more dollars will make up the difference.

It seems to work, for a while, especially in relation to politics. Harry Hopkins may or may not have been equipped, "Spend and spend, elect and elect," but it was worthy of his intellect.

The catch is that spending finally sows an inflationary whirlwind that whicks away the security of all persons on fixed incomes. It is ruinous to savers, who have had no voice in federal policy-making since the early '30s when the spending spree began.

Among the savers are, by necessity, all citizens who are approaching or have reached retirement age, all teachers and public employees, all small-income Americans. They are a formidable bloc in politics, and they have found a voice — Dwight Eisenhower's. They hope this time he will shout their plight from the houseposts.

Inflation is wiping them out — and they go to the polls and vote on Election Day, too. They will be there in 1960, after the new wave of spenders has washed away even more dollar purchasing power by spending more money the federal government doesn't have.

Footloose Factories

Now that the election is over, some sober-minded research outfit ought to undertake a special project to find out where industry is moving.

In many of the big industrial states like New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan, some of the politicians charged that factories are leaving the state to go elsewhere.

If even half what the politicians declare is true, industry really must have an itchy foot these days. The business boys must be awfully hard to please. Cross them on this or that, and, according to the campaigners, they up and move away.

Somebody must be getting the benefit of all this restlessness. Where do these plants go?

We haven't heard many states claim they're getting fat with immigrant industries. So, how about a commission to track down the footloose factories? We'll take one for Salem.

It's little kids' privilege to change their minds every day as to what they want for Christmas.

It's funny how a man saves his money year after year in order to retire and then doesn't know what he wants to do with it.

To some little kid brothers the old hand-me-downs are burn-me-ups.

People who say exactly what they mean have fewer friends than those who use better judgment.

JOSEPH N. WELCH'S accusatory talk on capital punishment on the "Omnibus" program is still being discussed as one of strongest blows ever struck against it. "Society tries to avoid responsibility and blame the state," he said. "But a human hand has to throw the switch. That hand is yours and mine."

There's Always the Morning After

Puzzled By Defeat

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower—in his first news conference after the Republicans' smashing defeat Tuesday—gave no indication he knows how to revitalize the party or even that he will be active in trying to.

He not only appeared puzzled as to why the Democrats won by a landslide but at times in his meeting with newsmen Wednesday seemed to contradict his own thinking on how to plan to win in the 1960 elections.

Asked what he thought caused the Democratic victory, he said the people apparently didn't pay any attention to his warning about the "spender wing" of the Democratic party. He renewed his pledge to fight unnecessary federal spending.

But it was Eisenhower himself who in 1957 and again in 1958 asked the Democratic-run Congress to approve record peace-time spending budgets.

Although he hammered repeatedly on his determination to reduce spending—and was repeatedly asked where he'd make the cuts—he didn't name a single area that would feel the ax.

He said frankly he didn't know when asked what factors he thought caused the Republican defeat.

But he said he agreed with Vice President Nixon that the Republicans "are prone to campaign very hard the last week or two weeks, or two months of an election, and they don't fight between elections."

Then he added he agrees with Republican Chairman Meade Alcorn that, "If the Republicans don't start fighting this morning, this very day for the next election, they're going to be in a bad way, and I believe this is true throughout the country."

Right here is where he showed contradictions.

The very fault he found with the Republicans—that they fight only the last few weeks before an election and not between elections — is the same course he has followed himself.

Between elections he has taken a position above the political strife, trying to get along with Democrats and Republicans alike, and to avoid partisan political bickering.

Then, just before each election, he gets very active and goes out to campaign.

A few minutes after saying the Republicans ought to start right now fighting to win the 1960 election, he was asked what he thought his role in the 1960 campaign would be. He said: "I am not even thinking about that election at this time."

And he said further: "My role for the next two years is to do exactly my very best to carry on the responsibilities and duties of the presidency."

While agreeing Republicans should start fighting at once, he indicated he hopes to get along well with the Democrats running Congress.

This is the opposite of the way former President Truman performed: he played politics between elections by banging away at the Republicans and then looking forward eagerly to coast-to-coast campaigning before elections. He's still doing that.

Eisenhower explained he will try to get along with the Democrats for the good of the country.

He told the newsmen he doesn't see in the election returns anything that indicates the people of the country want his administration to do anything differently.

He added: "If I'm wrong, I'd like to know what it is."

One-Ton Handicap

By TRUMAN TWILL

There are times when the handicap of not being extra bright is heavier than it is other times.

It weighs a ton when I try to sort out antics of the automobile industry that employs about one seventh of the country's working stiffs.

When it becomes possible to talk about the receding recession above a whisper, there will cease to be a secret made of the fact it was blasted off by failure of last year's new auto models to attract as many customers as the auto industry needed, to keep its economic socks pulled up.

There wasn't a thing wrong with last year's models; they were fine. But something happened to last year's potential customers. And what happened was not fine. It was sad.

You wonder about it when you see one of the Big Three auto producers buying lots of advertising space this year to tell its potential customers why they should see merit in a French-made car it has taken under its wing.

The other two members of the Big Three have done the same thing. They have told people who are potential purchasers of autos made in the United States that automobiles made outside the United States are cheaper to buy and cheaper to run. They have told them that the imported cars are easier to operate and provide more satisfaction to drivers who get pleasure out of the "feel" of a well balanced, precisely engineered car.

What is this, anyway? When did American enterprise begin to beat the drums for foreign enterprise in the American market?

Has the auto industry, which prides itself on taking the popular pulse, been following itself about the people's heart-beats? Has it been wrong about what Americans want? Or has it just been wrong about what Americans can buy with dollars that have had too much buying power squeezed out of them by inflation?

Those of us who bear the handicap of not being extra bright can only inquire. We do not know the answers, though we know that unless some answers are forthcoming there will be unpleasant consequences in an industry that puts meat on the table for one out of every seven earners in the United States.

The recession which is now receding left an odor of gasoline fumes behind it. Another thing it left behind is the impression that what took the place of the horse had better show horse sense in a hurry or the next recession will be more than a talking point for people who blame other people for all mistakes.

It's as if the whole country were strapped down in a rain barrel, where it must die of thirst in a drought and drown if it rains.

To be blunt about this, there's no room in the auto business for people who aren't extra bright. They are in charge of the water barrel. They need to be economic statesmen.

There's more to it than there would be if all of us weren't in the barrel together — one seventh of us as persons directly responsible to production of automobiles for our livelihood, the rest as persons who can be hurt if the auto business falters.

SIDE GLANCES

Twofold Discontent

by DAVID LAWRENCE

Many GOP Conservatives Didn't Vote

Discontent — blamed on the party in power in the White House — has won another congressional election in the middle of a presidential term. It happened against Taft in 1910, against Hoover in 1930 against Eisenhower in 1954, as well as against Wilson in 1918 before the end of World War I and against Truman in 1946 just after World War II ended.

This time it was a two-fold discontent. It involved not only economic issues such as unemployment, cost of living and high taxes, but also emotional resentments over several questions unrelated to the economic controversies of the day.

Millions of conservatives on the Republican side didn't vote. They were alienated by so-called "modern Republican" doctrines which they consider radical or by the use of federal troops in the Little Rock schools or by bitterness stirred up in some states during the anti-McCarthy battle.

New Jersey lost a chance to elect a Republican senator and so did Wisconsin because of the deep-seated friction over some of these emotional questions.

In Utah, due to a party split, Sen. Watkins, Republican, who was chairman of the Senate committee that "censored" Sen. McCarthy, was defeated. The combined vote of the two Republican candidates exceeded that of the winning Democrat.

Several members of the House on the Republican side lost votes in those rural districts of Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland where voters condemned the Republican administration attitude on enforced integration in the schools.

THE REPUBLICAN, for example, who won in the 10th Congressional District of Virginia, Joel Broyhill, did so largely because in the opinion of many voters, he appeared to be on the segregation side of the argument.

At Little Rock, by a remarkable "write-in" vote launched in the last 10 days of the campaign, a segregationist candidate, Dr. Dale Alford of the school board, running as an independent, defeated Rep. Brooks Hays, Democrat, a veteran of eight terms in the House. As for any gains for the republican party among the Negro voters in the North, these were almost negligible.

The "recession" really beat the Republicans. Farm income has declined in recent years. This hurt the Republicans in the Middle West.

Although business has been improving slowly, the upward movement still wasn't adequate to overcome the economic discontent, especially in farm states like Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and also in California, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, where the unemployment issue was almost as much a vote-getter for the opposition party as it was when Franklin Roosevelt swept the country in 1932 due to the depression of that period.

None of this can be said to have been unexpected. When the "recession" began to make its appearance in 1957, and the Federal Reserve Board started curtailing bank credit, this correspondent in May, August, September and October 1957, wrote several dispatches predicting that the 1958 election would certainly be lost to the Republicans.

HERE IS the appraisal made as of Oct. 27, 1957 — a little more than a year ago:

"If the elections were held today. The Republicans would elect fewer than 100 members of the House — almost as low a number as they had after the 1932 election, when Franklin Roosevelt won his first term.

"As things look now, it is likely the Republicans will lose many seats in the Senate in the 1958 election and that the Democratic majority in both houses will be the biggest in recent years."

The election this week would appear to have brought the Republican total in the House down from 200 to around 133 as compared to 282 for the Democrats.

The Senate Republican total has gone down from 47 to 34 as compared with 62 for the Democrats. But for the intensive effort of the President and vice president in the last few weeks, the results might have been as bad for the Republicans as were outlined by this writer a year ago.

The Republican party's wounds will not soon be healed. Nelson Rockefeller's victory in New York State for governor — due largely to his winning personality — will give the promoters of dissension among Republicans still more opportunity to cry out that a New Deal or "modern Republican" approach and a big spending program is the best way for the Republican party to get votes and not by the sound economics preached by the conservatives.

THE REPUBLICANS did not have enough money in the national campaign this time. Many conservatives who have contributed generously in the past were alienated. Some came back at the last minute.

Money, of course, cannot buy a national election. But the labor unions which poured millions of dollars into the campaign in key areas throughout the country in the form of services of precinct workers and expensive publicity on television, radio and billboards, did an effective job in getting indifferent voters to the polls.

The right-to-work issue in several states, especially Ohio, brought out a big labor union vote because the proposal was misrepresented by the labor unions as a measure that would eliminate the union shop.

This misleading phrase was used to give the impression that the law would actually prohibit the continuance of unions. The federal law, of course, guarantees a majority of union members legal recognition as a bargaining agent for all members of a shop and state laws can't take this away.

The right-to-work law for states, on the other hand, concerns the right of the minority as individuals to resign as a protest which includes the right to quit paying dues to a gangster-dominated union.

The issue is far from dead, as it will be noted that Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican champion of right-to-work laws, won a decisive victory in Arizona, though he was the target of heavy attack by the labor unions.

The fight for liberalism and democracy inside the labor unions has just begun, and the fight for sound conservative principles in the policies of our national government will have to be pressed more vigorously than ever before inside both political parties, if an inflationary crash and a real depression, due to unbalanced budgets and excessive spending, are to be prevented.

Paper Bag Lunch

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—That grand old business institution, lunch in a brown paper bag, is rapidly vanishing from the American scene.

In its place is the liquid lunch of extra-dry martinis, spiced with big-deal shop talk.

The man who came to dinner with a brown paper bag never discussed office problems at the noon hour. He was too busy swapping sandwiches.

And the only midday drinking he did was an occasional pail of beer on a hot day or maybe a bottle of egg nog at Christmas time.

Lunch was mysterious, exciting, even socially revealing when served in a brown paper bag.

A fellow could come to work with a jar of pickled herring and a couple of left-over sausages in a stale roll, and by adroit trading wind up with a full course meal from the paper bags of his fellow employees. In the process, he'd learn which wives were good cooks, who were the real gourmets in the crowd and how much the average family budgeted for food.

He could dine on everything from anchovies to zwiebachs and never have to worry about getting an ulcer, tipping the head waiter or being outfumbled on his credit card.

The brown-bagger, as his cult came to be known, was at heart a family man. When he left for work in the morning, he took a little bit of home along with him.

And when he came home at night, he never had to face a dinner of left-over leftovers. He'd already eaten them for lunch or managed to parlay them into something better. Usually, the next fellow's leftovers.

If he worked outdoors, say as a carpenter or lineman, he was the envy of every kid in the neighborhood when he spread out his lunch on somebody's doorstep. There wasn't a boy alive who wouldn't have risked getting back to school late to fetch him a quart of milk or a tomato from the corner stand.

Today the brown-bagger still exists in isolated pockets in our frenzied society. But he has gone underground for fear of being detected. Instead of carrying his sack of sandwiches with pride and a swagger, he conceals them in the deep recesses of his attache case.

Even the bill of fare is shockingly different. Gone are the green peppers and pickled watermelon rinds, replaced by a dietetic sandwich: One unwashed lettuce leaf shivering between two slices of melba toast. For dessert, a tranquilizer pill in a cup of lukewarm water with a twist of Venzuelan lemon.

You will encounter it anywhere along hundreds of thousands of miles of road, on the New York Thruway or the road to Mandalay.

You will see it displayed on an automobile emerging from the hold of a liner discharging cargo at Singapore.

You will see it as the first listing in hundreds of telephone directories.

You will see it on any one of millions of maps, tour books, directories, and hundreds of other publications.

You will see it on an emergency truck bringing aid to a stranded motorist.

You will see it on over 16 million school traffic safety materials.

It is the emblem of the American Automobile Association, the world's largest motoring organization, and one of the great national travel agencies . . . membership over 6 million.

Annoying Cold Sores are Short-Lived

This is the time of year when I begin to get an increasingly large number of questions regarding cold sores. This common disorder also goes under the name of "fever blisters." The correct scientific name is herpes simplex.

Few of us escape trouble with fever blisters at one time or another, most commonly around the lips or nose. This must be classed as an ailment rather than a dangerous disease, since only rarely is this condition associated with serious complications.

But some people have recurring trouble with herpes simplex. For example, one young lady I know gets cold sores on her lips practically every time she catches a cold, loses sleep or stays out in the sun too long. She gets most annoyed about this.

MOST COLD SORES come rather suddenly and are associated with some infection or event which apparently lowers our resistance. They generally clear up in a relatively short time without much difficulty.

The apparent reason for those which return to us is because the virus which causes the condition lies quietly within the cells, but can at any time become active again if the resistance is lowered by such things as infection, fatigue or exposure to strong sunlight.

The treatment of an ordinary cold sore is simple. During the blister stage a drying application, such as spirits of camphor or calamine lotion, is usually helpful. When the blister has broken and a crust has formed, a mild ointment, such as a heavy cold cream, may help to soften the crusts.

ANOTHER TREATMENT that sometimes helps is to use small-pox vaccination. Smallpox is another disease caused by viruses (though much more serious, of course) and perhaps there is some relationship between the virus es not yet understood.

An interesting account of what sometimes happens with this form of treatment comes from Mrs. E. She wrote that she has had cold sores more often than not for the last 20 years. About five years ago she asked her doctor for smallpox vaccination which he gave her. Then she had no more cold sores until four years later.

On request, a different physician vaccinated her for smallpox again.

the fever blisters disappeared and she hopes she will be free of them for another four years. We can join her in that hope.

Newlywed's Flyer at Crime Short-Lived

CHICAGO (AP)—A young newlywed took a flyer at a holdup in Grand Rapids, Mich., Thursday, chartered an airplane to Chicago and two minutes after landing was captured by police.

The captive, Walter Molenkamp, 19, was carrying a revolver in shoulder holster but he surrendered meekly when he saw four detectives, revolvers in hand, rush at him.

Molenkamp, astonished at the reception, quickly admitted he had obtained $1,400 in a holdup of a Grand Rapids gas station.

"I was desperate for money," he told Detectives James Riley and Mike McCarthy. "I got married last Tuesday and I only make 90 cents an hour at my job as a car hop. I had just needed the money badly and thought I'd take a flyer at the holdup."

The pilot, Robert C. Gable, also was startled when the policemen surrounded the plane. He was unaware that his lone passenger, who had paid $69 for the 200-mile flight, was a fugitive.

"The only thing we talked about was how he could get a scheduled airliner to Clovis, N.M.," Gable said.

Police said they found $1,143 in small bills stuffed in Molenkamp's pockets.

"I planned to go somewhere in Arizona," he told detectives. "When I got there, I was going to send the money to my wife Beverly and then I was going to shoot myself."

Molenkamp, who said he would waive extradition, told police a finance company had threatened to repossess his wife's engagement and wedding rings. That, he said, prompted him to hold up the gas station where he took $1,200 from the cash register and $200 from the attendant, Ed Vanderwerf.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

When an animal is teased it plays for only a brief period of time. If the animal is goaded for long, it will strike back or it will run away. Nor will it soon return for more mistreatment. An animal recognizes the difference between love and mistreatment.

Man, too, has his limits of being goaded beyond which he no longer trusts his fellowman. Man is supposed to have patience and understanding greater than that of the animal kingdom but his superior experiences teach him not to trust the unreliable.

The fact holds true between nations and organized groups of people as well as between individuals.

Although God forgives man's greatest sins, He teaches that mankind should deal with others as they wish others to deal with them. His patience is coupled with justice.

Japanese Inspect Furnace Co. Plant Here

A delegation of 14 Japanese industrialists, all who occupy management and executive positions in Japan's major forging industries, along with their interpreters and project manager, toured the Electric Furnace Co. plant here Thursday.

The group visited the firm's research and experimental building where talks were made by Electric Furnace Co. personnel to explain the various types of modern equipment designed and built by the firm and those used in the forging and heat treatment of forgings.

The Japanese industrialists had previously viewed the Salem company's exhibit at the American Society for Metals' national exposition in Cleveland.

The delegation, which came here by chartered bus, was entertained at a luncheon at the Salem Golf Club.

New Waterford to Seek Vote Recount

As an aftermath of the apparent defeat of two fiscal measures at the polls Tuesday, Beaver Local School district is considering a special election to resubmit a combination $209,000 bond issue and half-mill tax levy and New Waterford village officials have indicated they will seek a recount attempting to reverse the five-vote margin by which a $35,000 sewer bond issue was turned down.

The Beaver Local Board of Education will discuss the possibility of resubmitting the bond issue at a special meeting Monday night. The measure was defeated, with 1,010 votes in favor and 1,180 against.

At New Waterford, the unofficial count showed 125 in favor of the bond issue for a sewer project and 110 against. Requiring a 55 per cent affirmative vote for approval, the issue apparently was rejected by five votes.

Election

Democratic opponent, Gov. Averell Harriman. "Rocky" — a nickname that would have appalled grandfather John D.—whisked Rep. Kenneth B. Keating into the Senate on his coattails. Ample campaign funds didn't hurt, of course.

CALIFORNIA — Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is well enough liked, but no glamor boy on the Rockefeller scale. Still, he won the governorship overwhelmingly for the Democrats, in large part because (1) his opponent, Sen. William F. Knowland, favored a right-to-work bill and the unions mobilized to beat him, and (2) there was widespread resentment of the political hyplay which forced GOP Gov. Goodwin J. Knight to abandon reelection hopes and run for the Senate instead. Knight lost too — to Rep. Clair Engle. A Knowland-Knight feud hurt both men.

ARIZONA—Much union activity here too—against conservative Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater. But a lot of it came from outside the state and a good many voters resented it. Besides, Goldwater waged a far more vigorous campaign than his opponent, Gov. Ernest McFarland. Result: Goldwater won and the Democratic tide was washed back again.

WISCONSIN — Democratic Sen. William Proxmire, who never stops campaigning, beat Republican Roland J. Steinle, who never really started campaigning. It was almost as simple as that. Another factor: Some people just plain wanted to vote against Republicans.

PENNSYLVANIA — Another easy one to figure. Pittsburgh's Democratic Mayor David Lawrence is a well-known political figure, widely known too for civic accomplishments such as a leading role in cleaning up the once smoky city. Republicans ran a politically inexperienced pretzel manufacturer against him. Lawrence won handily. Likewise the Washington experience of GOP Rep. Hugh Scott undoubtedly figured in his defeat of Gov. George M. Leader for the Senate. Leader in addition had antagonized some bigwigs in his own party and a lot more rank-and-file voters in one term as governor.

OHIO—Another case of a governor, this time Republican C. William O'Neill, who antagonized too many voters. They replaced him at the first opportunity with Democrat Michael V. DiSalle. Ohio has been hard hit by unemployment and there was a widespread feeling O'Neill dragged his feet on special aid to the jobless. On top of that, O'Neill took the stump for a right-to-work amendment. The voters buried it and him to.

INDIANA—All sorts of factors: recession; unease over foreign affairs and weapon development; echoes of a highway corruption scandal in the previous Republican administration; state tax increases. A typical Hoosier GOP split. All these added up to defeat for Harold W. Handley in his bid to leave the governorship in mid-term in favor of the Senate. The winner: Democrat Vance Hartke.

NEW JERSEY—The idea that one candidate can ride in on the coattails of somebody else has been disputed lately, since President Eisenhower's coattails have shown little pulling power. But it happened in New York and in some measure in New Jersey, where Democrat Harrison A. Williams benefited in his Senate fight from aggressive campaigning on his behalf by Gov. Robert Meyner. Williams' youth (he's 38), his liberal views and his personality also helped in his victory over 65-year-old Rep. Robert Kean. So did the claim throughout the world. She was cheered lustily in appearances last season at the Met. A similar greeting was accorded her last season in London.

In 1955, Miss Callas broke with the Lyric Opera of Chicago. In 1957, both the Vienna and the San Francisco operas dropped her. Last January Miss Callas walked out of the Rome Opera part way through a performance saying she had voice trouble. Later she publicly apologized.

Last June she announced she was shunning Milan's famed La Scala Opera because of a disagreement with the management.

state's strengthened Democratic organization.

MINNESOTA — Another who gained coattail support was Rep. Eugene McCarthy. His 50,000-vote margin over Sen. Edward Thye for a Senate seat was helped along by the personal popularity of Gov. Orville Freeman, who won reelection by 125,000 votes. But McCarthy, 42, also was helped by his own 10-year record as a representative from St. Paul where he scored heavily.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Jimmy Hoffa is dreaming of a White House Christmas. Not as president of the United States, of course, but as president of the Teamsters.

For, not until Hoffa took office did the White House ignore seasonal greetings and invitations to a Teamster chief.

There was even the time when a president of the U.S. used a Teamster banquet to kick off his campaigns. Those were the days when the Teamsters could deliver votes and cash. Money they can still tote around. But, strangely enough, there were few takers in political circles this year. The Teamsters were "too hot."

The union did throw considerably more than $400,000 into the fight against the right-to-work propositions, mostly in California, Kansas and Ohio.

In some states the Teamsters worked quietly through the regional parties. However, they were too busy defending themselves to get into big league politicking.

But Jimmy Hoffa has not been too busy to think and plan for a high gear Teamster political action department in the next election.

AND STRANGELY enough, he has had more time to think these days than ever before in his swashbuckling foray to the top of the Teamsters.

Jimmy Hoffa and his major dominie, Harold Gibbons, spend hours in the air these days, putting down just long enough for Hoffa to make a speech. Put a grapefruit in front of him and he's on his feet with a searing, belligerent attack on his enemies.

Last Friday night Hoffa and Gibbons flew from Washington to Dallas. Then on to a Teamster rally in Toledo and by chartered plane to a bakery drivers' banquet in Pittsburgh.

Finally back to Washington Monday without once taking off their clothes except to change shirts.

In the hours between speeches, Hoffa seldom sleeps. He talks of vast campaigns to come — including the political.

Hoffa and Gibbons project the activity of the Teamsters' political and educational department.

They talk of setting it up as a central division — from which will pour literature, advice and the discoveries of an adjoining research division.

They talk of bringing in qualified experts to head up the departments in the great white palace just across the square from Congress.

THE KNOW that this is not their season. Into their conversation the phrase "after the convention" drops like football scores on Saturday afternoon broadcasts.

They talk of a public relations program which will convince the land that they have "cleaned up" the Teamsters.

as the one their colleague, Larry Steinberg of Toledo, put on the other day when he had a rabbi, a priest and a minister observe the nomination of officers of the Teamsters there.

Everywhere, as in Pittsburgh the other day, Hoffa talks of vast new drives which will roll the Teamsters up to two-million and finally four-million members in transport moving on land, sea and in the air.

With this sort of force, Hoffa believes he could build a far more effective political machine than did the late snow white, bull-voiced Dan Tobin who could walk into the White House any day during any Democratic administration.

Certainly Hoffa sees himself far more effective than the unfrocked Dave Beck — despite the political contributions Beck plowed into both parties.

ONLY A TWO-HEADED apparition looms in Hoffa's daydreaming — George Meany and Walter Reuther. While these men war on him, Hoffa will find it difficult to convince anyone he can deliver a labor vote.

Hoffa hates Meany but positively believes that Meany will resign in the next few years — probably for an ambassadorial post. Repeat: Hoffa believes that. This would put Reuther in as AFL-CIO president, Hoffa reckons.

Therefore, Hoffa's big guns are trained on Reuther. Everywhere, now, Teamster strategists say that as head of the AFL-CIO Reuther would operate across the land and "take over politically as the Auto Union has in Michigan."

This will be the Hoffa line when in the next year the Teamsters swing into political action.

They will offer their own campaign units to advance scouts of both parties looking for those who can deliver in the presidential year of '60.

County Group to Hear Kent State Professor

OSU Underdog In Purdue Game

Bucks' Offense Lacking Punch

Problem Aggravated By Weak Reserves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the first time since away back when, Ohio State goes into a football game Saturday as the underdog.

Purdue's Boilermakers, their last three wins over Michigan State, Notre Dame and Illinois—while Ohio was trampling undermanned Indiana, tying Wisconsin and losing to three-touchdown underdog Northwestern—are the threat to force the Bucks another rung down the gridiron ladder.

Coach Woody Hayes of the husky Ohioans, blessed with a rugged first string and scanty in reserve strength, figures this to be a tough contest but insists his charges are rebounding from the unexpected setback at Evanston. Hayes has been forced to stay with his starters, due to the replacement problem, while opposing mentors have been platooning or constantly tossing fresh talent on the field.

A year ago, in 10 games, the Bucks surrendered only one four-period touchdown—and it came on the first play of the final session on a 15-yarder by Northwestern's Ron Burton. This year the tiring Ohioans have given up 35 points in the final 15 minutes—almost half the foes' scoring total of 76.

The Bucks have either lost their potent scoring touch, or rival mentors have found a way to put a halt to the galloping backs. At the end of six games a year ago Ohio held a 189-51 scoring edge. This season the margin is 110-76.

With six games gone, each Ohio starter had a shot at 360 minutes of playing time—or 3960 minutes for the entire team. The starting 11 has eaten up 3136 minutes of the total—despite the fact Halfback Don Clark has missed a game and a half with injuries.

23 College Tilts In Ohio Schedule

Unbeaten Wittenberg To Meet Wesleyan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami's Redskins and Wittenberg's Tigers step up to the championship payoff window Saturday in two of the feature attractions on Ohio's 23-game collegiate football program.

Miami goes against Marshall under the lights at Huntington, W. Va., and should the Thundering Herd (1-3) defeat the Redskins (4-0) in the season's big upset, it would clear the way for Kent State to take a crack at the Mid-American crown in next week's fray against Western Michigan. Kent currently is 4-1 in the loop. A Miami win would wrap up the laurels for the Oxford crew.

Wittenberg, under the canny coaching of Bill Edwards, has won five in a row in the sprawling Ohio Conference, the only unblemished record in the league. Ohio Wesleyan, Saturday's foe with 3-1, is third, behind Muskingum's 4-1. Only once in the last 29 years have the Tigers trimmed the Battling Bishops, a 20-13 conquest last year giving Wittenberg a share of the title with Denison. A Tiger wins grabs the title. A loss probably would give it to Muskingum.

In all games Wittenberg and Wesleyan have identical 6-1 records, although the Tigers' lone loss was erased as Baldwin-Wallace forfeited its 26-6 victory. Wittenberg has a 241 scoring total to Wesleyan's 240.

Cincinnati, with one loss and two ties in three Missouri Valley tilts, entertains tough Tulsa in another headline, while Dayton plays Villanova in the Gem City in an eye-catcher.

Other games on Saturday's slate are Purdue at Ohio State, Ohio University at Bowling Green, Marietta at Muskingum, Mount Union at Wooster, Kenyon at Hiram, Akron at Denison, Capital at Oberlin, Allegheny at Case, W. & J. at John Carroll, Western Reserve at Western Michigan, Kent State at Louisville, Ohio Northern at Alma, Central State at Lincoln, Bluffton at Centre, Defiance at Anderson, Xavier at Toledo (N), Baldwin Wallace at Heidelberg (N), Northern Michigan at Findlay (N), and Otterbein at Ashland (N).

PLAYING FINAL GAME — These 12 Salem seniors will don a Quaker uniform for the last time tonight when Earle Bruce sends his squad into action against the Leetonia Bears at Reilly Stadium. Kickoff time is 8 p.m. Salem is ranked 18th in the state on the basis of their 6-2 record while Pat Mancuso's team ended in a fourth place tie in the Tri-County League. They are 4-3 on the year. Seen above are: front row, (l. to r.), end Bill Hone, guard Ken Garlock, center Clyde Marks, tackle George Daily, guard Buddy Rottenborn and end Dave Metcalf. Back row, guard Ray Esterly, quarterback Kent Malloy, fullback Lou Slaby, halfback Ralph Enhart, quarterback Ben Jones and fullback Jim Plegge.

Iowa Faces Minnesota

Northwestern-Wisconsin Tilt To Feature Big Ten Contests

By The Associated Press
The weekend's football activity begins tonight on a paradoxical note. If Saturday's activity follows the trend, it will end the same way.

Syracuse, an Eastern independent not picked to do much before the season, meets Boston University in another step up the ladder to a bowl bid. The Orange is ranked 12th in The Associated Press poll on the basis of its 5-1 record, and last week's 16-13 victory over Pitt.

Boston (3-3) has been up and down all year and faces the nation's seventh-ranked team in rushing defense and top scoring outfit with 26.7 points per game. Down South, Miami University, ranked 15th before the season, has won only once in five starts and has scored a meager 31 points. The Hurricane play a tough Florida State team (6-2).

Alabama, winner of its last two and 3-3 for the season, plays Tulane at New Orleans in a Southeastern Conference game to wind up the major activity tonight.

The top game in the Big Ten pits fourth-ranked Northwestern against Wisconsin (No. 7). Dick Thornton and Ron Burton, who led the Wildcats to their 21-0 victory over Ohio State last week, will face a Wisconsin defense that has allowed only 6.7 points a game in running up a 4-1 record. Northwestern is 5-1.

Iowa conceivably can take all the Big Ten marbles and a spot in the Rose Bowl if it defeats winless Minnesota, if Ohio State loses to Purdue and Wisconsin beats Northwestern.

Iowa, second-ranked, has a 4-0 conference record. The Gophers haven't won in nine games.

Top-ranked Army travels to the Southwest for the first time, to meet Rice (No. 13) in the top inter-sectional game. Halfback Pete Dawkins and fullback Harry Walters are both ready for offensive duties after injuries, bolstering the Cadets' top-ranked offense.

The nation's top defensive team, Auburn (No. 5), has an SEC game with Mississippi State, which has lost two in a row but ranks 10th in total defense. Oklahoma (No. 6) has a Big Eight Conference date with Iowa State.

Ninth-ranked Mississippi plays non-SEC member Houston, but the game is counted in the SEC standing since Ole Miss could not schedule the required minimum of five conference games.

The Air Force Academy (No. 10), with only a tie against five victories, plays Denver (2-5). Texas Christian (No. 11), winner of its last four, plays Marquette in an inter-sectional tilt, while Notre Dame (No. 14) has an inter-sectional date with Pitt (4-2-1) in Pittsburgh. This game will be regionally televised in the East.

Yearling Sold For $105,000

Brings Highest Price Ever Paid

By The Associated Press
When Stanley Dancer stepped into the standardbred auction ring at Harrisburg, Pa. Thursday and paid a record $105,000 for a yearling he took one of the biggest gambles in sports history.

A check of the records show that very few high priced yearling trotters, pacers and thoroughbreds have performed to expectations.

The $105,000 for Dancer Hanover by a six-man syndicate, headed by the New Egypt, N.J., trainer-driver, was the highest ever paid for any yearling. Until the Son of Adios from the Hanover, Pa. Farms consignment was knocked down to Dancer, the record was $87,000 by Mrs. M.E. (Liz) Lunn in 1956 for the runner, Rise N' Shine.

The previous highest priced yearling trotter or pacer was Imperial Hanover, knocked down to J.J. McIntyre of Hollins, Va., in 1949 for $72,000.

It could be that Dancer Hanover will be an exception to the rule. For he comes of the best pacing stock. His sire was sold by Del Miller to the Hanover Farms for a half-million dollars after a brilliant racing career. And in the stud Adios Harry, the world's fastest pacer and leading money winning standardbred.

But Imperial Hanover never showed much. Neither did Josie's Victory and Junior Executive, for whom the Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N.J. paid $42,000 and $55,000 respectively.

Basketball Being Eyed After First Grid Win

BRUCE, S.D. — This town's record of never having won a football game has been broken. For eight years — for all of its football history, in fact — Bruce High in this eastern South Dakota town had never won a game.

That era came to an end recently when Bruce trounced the Sinai Rebels, 31-6.

There was a stunned silence as the final whistle blew. Then a gleeful demonstration erupted and there was dancing in the streets.

"People had gotten to the point where they celebrated if we merely played a close game," says the Coach Joe Wheeler. "Now maybe our kids will find it's kinda fun to win."

Does Bruce look for another football victory soon?

"Actually," says Wheeler, "we're more interested in getting the basketball season under way."

You see, Bruce hasn't won a basketball game in four years.

Mount Union Begins Cage Season Dec. 1

Mount Union College opened basketball drills this week to launch preparations for the first season under coach Wayne Ashbaugh, who returns to his alma mater following a successful high school coaching career at Louisville and Zanesville.

A total of 31 candidates reported Monday but that figure had already been cut to 17 by Wednesday — not counting Bill Davis, a junior letterman, who is a member of the grid squad.

Ashbaugh has indicated that he plans to carry a 14-man varsity squad but remains undecided as to whether he will also make use of a junior varsity or a strictly freshman reserve team.

Last year the Raiders, under George Hunter who left to become head coach mentor at Army, posted a 13-6 overall record and a 9-4 Ohio Conference mark that put them fourth in the standings.

Returning from that group are lettermen Bill Roof (Poland), Dan Richards (Canfield), Dave Brubaker (Ashland), Bob McMaster (Youngstown South), Dave Senften (Hartsville), and Davis (Youngstown Rayen) along with numeral-winner Jim Matthews (Canton McKinley).

With the first week devoted primarily to cutting down to a workable roster, Ashbaugh has had little chance to be overly impressed by the showing of any of his cagers.

Mount will play a 20-game schedule starting with Geneva, Pa., at home Dec. 1. The Raiders meet all 13 Conference foes.

Los Angeles — Mauro Vazquez, 133½, Mexico, knocked out Armand Savoie, 135, Montreal, 1.

OHIO FUEL GAS CO., which supplies the village of Columbiana, has announced another hike in fuel gas rates, due Dec. 1.

The utility cites higher cost of natural gas from suppliers in the Southwest as the reason. The boost is permissible under a fuel cost clause contained in the contract between the village and Ohio Fuel. This will be the fifth rate hike under that provision since a year ago.

OPENS NEW HANGER

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Hopkins Airport opens a new air line hanger today, large enough to accommodate the 150-passenger jet liners which will go into service shortly. Already in service at the airport is a smaller hanger. Total cost of the two hangars was about $4,200,000.

GLOBE DIGGER—The world is just a big apple waiting to be cored, in the opinion of Dr. T. F. Gaskell, shown, right photo, handling a globe possessively in his London, England, office. The chief physicist for the British Petroleum Co. plans to drill a hole 10 miles deep, far outstripping man's deepest penetration of his planet to date. Painting, left, depicts the drill which will be used. Dr. Gaskell believes it may be possible eventually to drill all the way to the earth's center, thought to be a mass of molten iron.

Here and There In Our Town

By DONNA AGAN

Sylvia Ann Livingston has been selected to sing in the 125-voice cappella choir at Bowling Green State University. A senior, majoring in English, Sylvia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith P. Livingston of Butcher Road. Sylvia's younger sister, Cullie, who was chosen "chorister of the year" last semester at Salem High School, is attending Baldwin-Wallace College.

Did you see the little golden elephant which Holland Cameron was carrying around the day after elections—covered with bandages? which were undoubtedly donated by Fred Burchfield.

A HOSPITAL BED didn't deter the Rev. Harold Deitch, pastor of the First Christian Church, from casting his vote in Tuesday's election. In the Central Clinic for a medical checkup, the minister "went AWOL" for a brief period—long enough to visit his precinct voting booth. His absence from the hospital wasn't noticed until he returned.

MRS. ROLAND SMITH'S Brother, Joe Jeswald, will have a one-man art show at a New York City gallery, opening the week of Nov. 15. Mr. Jeswald, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jeswald of Leetonia, now lives at Rockport, Mass. He left Leetonia in 1945. After being discharged from the service, he stayed on in Paris to study art, then returned to continue his studies at Columbia University in New York. At Rockport he is art director in the local school system; he gives art lectures, and does weekly illustrations for the Boston Globe.

Mrs. Smith (of Sebring-Pine Lake Road) who has two of her brother's pictures, an oil and a charcoal, says that his work is somewhere between modern art and "literal" art.

IF YOU'VE NOTICED those eight mules in a pasture beyond the Millville Hill on the road to Columbiana, they are not just ordinary mules. They are Jerry Lippiatt's troupe of racing mules. Since 1950 when Mr. Lippiatt bought a racing mule at the Canfield Fair, he and his troupe of mules have traveled all over the United States and Canada putting on shows at fairs. The mules are hitched to sulkies and raced by drivers from the local fair area. One year, for instance, at a Kentucky fair, the governor of the state was a driver.

Mr. Lippiatt's son, Dave, also had a troupe of six racing mules which he took to fairs that his father couldn't attend. Dave says he thinks he set a record one year at the Canfield Fair when the mule he was driving did the half-mile in one minute, three seconds, which he claims is faster than a race horse can do for the same distance.
